

AN INTRUDER APPROACHES

Older females and males have blue-green feathers. They stand guard to defend their nest box together

Young female tree swallows have brown feathers. They don't always get a nestbox, but they frequently look for vacancies.