

Backyard birds: The Dark-Eyed Junco

Dark-eyed Juncos are one of the birds you can see outside during cooler seasons in the Midwest. Some Juncos will fly north in the spring to breed, but in other places Juncos stay in the same place year-round. The Ketterson Lab studies differences between Juncos that migrate and those that do not.

Name _____